

Territory Sales Manager - Automotive

Baxters are Australia's most respected distributor of auto electrical parts into the heavy duty, fleet, mining and industrial markets. We also supply original equipment (OE) to many of Australia's heavy vehicle manufacturers.

With over 30 years of experience and a strong reputation for knowing our products, we focus only on what we're good at and build strong, deep relationships with our customers. Our suite of products on offer include all of the world's leading brands of products in our market, as well as an extensive range of our own exclusive products.

Our Perth branch has a vacancy for a high-performing Territory Sales Manager. You may have a trade background, and you will likely have auto industry experience and some parts or sales experience. More importantly you should have energy and drive to succeed, to join some of the industry's best and be rewarded accordingly.

You will work fairly autonomously in your role, and some overnight travel will be required. A fully maintained company vehicle is provided.

Baxters are committed to developing our people, and this role is a stepping stone to a branch management role. You will be rewarded with an industry-leading salary package that includes both a competitive salary and a lucrative bonus.
